

Minor in Health Humanities

This policy statement was recommended by the Academic Senate on April 23, 2020 and approved by the President on May 1, 2020.

This minor focuses on the Health Humanities, an interdisciplinary field that applies humanistic perspectives to health and healthcare. This minor is meant for those interested either in pursuing a career in a health-

Degree Requirements

15 units (no more than six units from lower-division coursework). There are 6 units of required courses, and 9 units of special topics courses including an internship option.

Required Courses (6 units)

- CWL 115: Intro to Health Humanities
- CWL 315: Literature and Medicine

Course from the CLA (Group A) (3 units)

- ANTH 155 Medical Technologies and Human Bodies
- ANTH 353 Health and Healing

Course from either Group A or Group B, Internship or Cross-listed Interdisciplinary Health Humanities course (3 units)

- a. One of the above courses from Groups A and B.
- b. CWL 492 Internship Program
- c. CWL/HDEV/BIO/HCA 4xx Health and the Whole Human: An Interdisciplinary Study (in development for GE Concentration in Medical and Health Humanities)

Campus Code: C/LTUM02U1

Support: State-Support

Department: Comparative World Literature

Delivery: Fully Face-to-Face

Non-STEM

EFFECTIVE: Fall 2021